Professional Animal Communicator

Anna Breytenbach is a South African-based professional animal communicator who has received advanced training through the Assisi International Animal Institute in California, USA. She's been practicing for 18 years in South Africa, Europe and the USA with both domestic and wild animals.

Born and raised in Cape Town, South Africa, she holds a degree in Psychology, Economics and Marketing. Trained in tracking and mentoring at the Wilderness Awareness School (USA), she also mentors children and adults in nature awareness based on the ways of the Native American and San Bushmen peoples.

During her international corporate career that took her to Australia and then Silicon Valley and Seattle in the USA, she lived out her passion by volunteering in various rehabilitation, educational and conservation arenas. Amongst other things she has been a cheetah handler, served on committees for wolf, snow leopard, cheetah and mountain lion conservation, assisted at wildlife and horse sanctuaries and participated in wild wolf tracking expeditions in the Rocky Mountains.

Anna is a qualified and experienced master training facilitator, focusing on bringing forth participants' skills through coaching and mentoring in a practical manner. She consults exclusively with wildlife and offers workshops and interventions around southern Africa, Europe, Australia, the UK and USA. Her work includes wild dolphin and whale research and protection, leading retreats and safaris, interspecies projects at organic and reforestation initiatives, and numerous public appearances. Her pro bono work focuses on conservation projects such as elephant management, anti-poaching assistance, baboon rehabilitation and predator conservation. She is also the subject of the feature documentary movie "The Animal Communicator" on interspecies communication.

Anna's goal is to raise awareness and advance the relationships among human and non-human animals, on both the personal and spiritual levels. In her communication and conservation work, she guides people to deepen their connection with all species in an honouring manner, and is inspired by being a voice for the animals and natural environments.
